Dear Sylvia,

I just received Accessories and want to express my sincere thanks for both it and the check. While greatly appreciated, both were unnecessary - it was really no trouble saving the articles & the cost was minimal because I have access to a Xerox at work. I don't remember if I told you before or not, but I've been working in Westinghouse's Law Dept. since September. I'm in charge of the document review section & coordinator of the attorney & engineer review projects for a breach of contract suit @ is involved in. I've learned alot that will hopefully pay off if & when I get to law school. I did apply to law school for this Fall, but I haven't heard anything yet - the school is still processing applications. However, I have already been accepted to graduate school in Public and International Affairs. If I do get accepted to law school, I don't know how I'm going to decide which to do. I'll worry about that when the time comes - which will probably be soon. I wish I had the time & the money to do both.

I'm thinking about coming to New York later this summer to catch a few Broadway shows. If the plans materialize, perhaps we could get together for dinner while I'm there. Take care.

Sincerely,
Karen Sable
