Mrs Sylvia Meagher.
New York City, N.Y.

Dear Sylvia :

I had a great deal of pleasure at seeing you in Margery's apartment. I was delighted with your conversation, spirited articulate and alive as always. I was also glad to observe how well are you meeting the various demands of a life of leisure and retirement.

As you could have observed for yourself, I am doing very well. My health keeps improving and strengthening. My state of continuous dizziness is practically gone. My abilities to read are springing back. My doctors are talking now about going back to work. I think it will be a good therapy although I will miss my time off.

My wife and I would like to start payments on our debt to you. A monthly contribution of, let us say, one hundred dollars will be strong evidence of our good will, a frequent demonstration of our gratitude and a constant relieve from our personal anxieties.

As a Christian, even a dissenting one, I consider myself a disciple of Christ, the historical Jew my dear mother taught me to worship and love; as a man of the west my heritage goes back to the bible and the myriad of jews after the Bible whose books and writings or life are part of my thoughts, property and life.

A great many of our friends are Jews but none of them has meant so much for us as you.

Our love always,

Jose + Lenora.
