Dear Sylvia :

I got your kind and well written letter, we both read it. You are right/ . When it comes to money, when you lend it, you are running the risk of losing both the money and the friend.

In our case, this statement of reality, does not apply to us. We treasure your friendship as invaluable, we must not let money prevent from being good friends. Neither you should lose the money, which you have every right to claim as yours.

As a token of our sincere appreciation we are sending you a manager's check for $ 2,000.00 and my personal check for $ 100.00 to round things up. Soon, very soon indeed, you will receive another check to help reduce or cancel our pecuniary debt because our psychological debt will never be cancelled or diminished.

Affectionately,

José

Please, send us a receipt.

P.S. I do hope you are feeling better.
