Dear Sylvia,

It was nice chatting with you on Monday. I only got to talk with Summers for a moment on Monday nite, and we discussed nothing, except to exchange hellos and promise to talk again when he hits DC next week. (He hadn't memorized his media schedule, but I'm told he's on the Tomorrow show tonite [Wednesday] and McNeil-Lehrer Report next Monday.) (Also, the NY Times has thus far refused to review his book. The Washington Post is doing one, and Andrew Hacker is said to have written a very favorable review for the NY Review of Books.)

Bry Stone followed up on your call, and he called me Tuesday morning. We had a good talk and he's going to call me the next time he's in DC.

Enclosed is the Haynes' article I promised to send. It's only the beginning of a much larger, all-encompassing investigation; and this article is solely the work of Horgan.

Have a nice summer.

Jeff
