

P.S. Did Penn Jones ever send you an electrostatic copy on the English edition of "Red Roses from Texas" on loan? England Air Force Base

Alexandria, Louisiana Nov 22-71

158 Mebane

San Antonio

Texas - 78223

Dear Mrs Meagher

I am enclosing an article that was in yesterday's local paper

They haven't forgotten the anniversary anyway.
I have had a lot of trouble getting the printers to get on with my 1971 Supplement

I got the galley proofs seven weeks ago.
In the interval between sending them the copy, I received a parcel of cards from the Library of Congress with 19 more entries and I went back with the extra copy + told them to just add them on as "late additions" so it would not interfere with the main text.

Then a couple of days later I received "Two Flightpaths from Mr. Cutler, so I phoned the printers that I had one more entry

Being as it is the only treatise ^{that I have seen} that goes into a detailed description of Gov. Connally's wounds I thought it was worth holding the Supplement up a while longer.

I phoned the printers ^(D) at 2 PM today asking if they could give me an idea of when they would print the Supplement and the girl that answered the phone said she would phone me back - but she never did. I will just have to keep after them.

I have 122 new entries in it

I got a copy of "The Paradox View" and while it vaguely related to a similar conspiracy its near enough for a comparison to warrant an entry.

Did you ever read "Seven Days in May"?

I put it in for some book mentioned that JFK read it and said "I know of some people who would like to try it"

Putnam's have smothered Jim Harrison's "A Heritage of Stone" I have never seen an advert of it in "The Book Publishers Weekly" and it has never turned up in the bookstores here my health is just average. If it gets better I intend to start a list of magazines and newspapers. I have Bell & Howells 10 reels of micro films of over 10,000 frames of newspaper coverage
I am sincerely yours W C Thompson