

PERSONNEL REPORT

30 July 1953

Mrs. Meagher is making good progress since her promotion. She already had an excellent grasp of the work of this Office and is now developing into a competent Liaison Officer. She has a good ability to organize and performs her duties with great despatch at all times, particularly during periods of pressure.

I have found Mrs. Meagher to be a reliable assistant who carries out very satisfactorily any instructions which she receives. In the past six months, during my absence at Headquarters, she has been called upon to represent the Organization at meetings of U.N. bodies, and I have heard several favorable reports on the way in which she discharged this function.
