Newsman: "Details from newsman John Goodman at C.B.X. station KNX Los Angeles,"

Goodman: "The District Attorney confirms ~~via~~ that court orders protecting the evidence have been ~~with~~ violated and there are indications that the exhibits including the murder weapon have been tampered with.

= Sirhan defense attorney Luke McKissick says he regards the issue as a smoke screen to cover up inadequate in the prosecutions proof.

MCKissick: "Well, this has always been my fundamental notion is that there should be a, you know, public inquiry - a full inquiry - with everybody having access to it. Let the people from the press be there - let everyone that wants to examine - let us, let's see what the situation is.

Rather than just have private parties run around on their own and do their own little investigation. I'm for a full public inquiry, I think that's what's called for.

Goodman: "McKissick says he has authorized only one person to examine those exhibits. The probe by the District Attorney was prompted during the course of another investigation ~~of~~ into alleged irregularities in the ballistic investigation of the murder gun.
