Dear Mr. Liebeler,

A few days ago I received from a friend in California a tape recording of certain of your remarks during your appearance on the Louis Lomax television program in Los Angeles in February 1967. In listening to the tape, I learned for the first time that you had attributed to me a theory which I neither originated nor advocate; and, moreover, that on the basis of that wholly unfounded attribution, you proceeded to equate my criticism of the Warren Report with that of another individual who alleges that a stand-in for President Kennedy, and not the President himself, was assassinated in Dallas.

You will understand that I do not appreciate this analogy nor your inaccurate and unfounded representation of my views on a public broadcast. I enclose herewith a transcript of your remarks, together with an explanatory note. I will ask you to be good enough to indicate whether or not you would wish to withdraw the remarks in question. If your reply is affirmative, I will also ask you to be fair enough to make a public retraction in such a form or on such an occasion as you deem appropriate.

Yours very truly,
