Dear Mr. O'Toole,

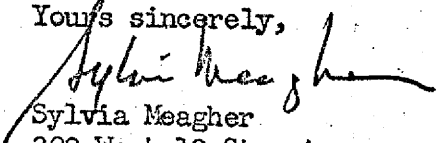

I acquired a copy of your book, The Assassination Tapes, only yesterday. I do not want the sun to set today without expressing my most sincere gratitude for the extremely generous remarks in your book on my work on the JFK assassination. I was really very moved and most thankful.

I am about one-third of the way into your book. Reading it is a double pleasure, first because of the strong support you provide for the claim of Oswald's complete innocence, of which I have been convinced from the outset, and second because your prose meets a very high standard of cogency, succinctness and sheer readability.

I do not know where you make your home but if it is in New York, perhaps you would be my guest for lunch at the UN Headquarters (where I work) or come for a drink at my home.

With congratulations, thanks, and all good wishes for the success of your book, which I would define as the complete and official exoneration of Lee Harvey Oswald.

Yours sincerely,
