

Dear Sylwia

I suppose someone has already sent these clippings to you but on the chance you haven't seen this in sending it along. It is the single most important development in the RFIK case to date - in my mind.

If these charges are true then we'll have our very own LT. Carl Day, right here in L.A.

The interesting thing about all this is that when Siaban was first arrested he had a clipping on him describing the Kirschke case and he wanted to discuss the Jack Kirschke case with the arresting officers. Wierd?

IT'S like some one once said - "you'd be a fool to try a high level political murder without the assistance of the head of the Homicide division and director of the Crime Lab to cover up any evidence of a conspiracy."
After I saw this story I went back and re-read <sup>LT.</sup> Carl Day's testimony to see just when he marked those 3 shells
"found" on the 6th floor.
"discovered" - but it took Carl Day some 9 hours to scribe his entries on 2 of those shells and somehow he missed the third one.
The coke bottle was in his office for some time until he decided to toss it out. Too much junk around. Fred
