

I would assume that by now you probably have most of the information contained in the attached story on Bob Smith, Director of Research, The Committee to Investigate Assassinations (Washington, D.C.). References made to the "Three Tramps"; the "Billy G. Harper skull fragment"; the mystery of the "Mexican Oswald;" Smith's discovery of a gun coupon which had gone unnoticed on the reverse side of another found among Oswald's things; possible links with Watergate (see p. 4); Patler and the assassination of George Lincoln Rockwell; Garrison's assassination suspicions and the "second Oswald";

This was a devil of a thing to piece together; your friend was none too careful about his cutting, as you will see.
