Dear Professor Nichols,

Only the pressure of work has prevented me, until now, from writing to express my satisfaction and congratulations with respect to your writings of recent months on the subject of the Kennedy autopsy. It is my impression that you bring to this field of inquiry not only authoritative forensic knowledge but an uncompromising commitment to uncovering all the facts in the case. Certainly, critics of the Warren Report greatly need and must welcome the support of members of your profession in the effort to establish the truth, so much of which hinges on the autopsy report.

It has come to my attention that you are using a xerox copy of my Subject Index, since it is out of print, and it occurred to me that the enclosed errata sheets may be useful.

With all good wishes,

Yours sincerely,
