Dear John:

I am very puzzled and disturbed by Tom Noguchi's statement that his office did not have neutron activation analysis performed in the scientific investigation of the RFK assassination. I have always understood that such a study was performed; in fact, I have referred to such an analysis repeatedly for several reasons, primarily to emphasize the difference in quality and extent of scientific investigation between the JFK and RFK assassination probes.

I plan to speak privately with Tom about this matter, and I shall let you know what I find out.

With kind regards.

Sincerely,

Cyril H. Wecht, M.D., J.D.
