Dear Sylvia Meagher:

I am enclosing the article from the Los Angeles Times as I promised.

Our telephone conversation was both stimulating and enjoyable and I want you to know how much I value these little long-distance 'get togethers.'

The New York Times article yesterday was most intriguing; the citation by Redlich(?) of Commission Exhibit 903 as a means of reconciling "the diagrams and the clothing holes with the 'single bullet' theory and the assassination film" was rather lame and inept. It makes one look forward to further confrontation which should find them (the proponents of the Report) on equally shaky grounds.

Finally, any tapes that you might want duplicated (should that process be inconvenient in the New York area) I would be more than delighted to oblige. I find the Lane tapes interesting and would be most eager for any new discussions on tape that are forthcoming with a "reopening of the discussion".

Best Wishes,
