

RAY OF LIGHT

In Washington, Kennedy's press secretary, Pierre Salinger, denied any knowledge of the aerial bombings. He said the United States was trying to get all the information it could on the attacks. The United States was attempting to cover its tracks, but it was heading into trouble anyway, as this Times story showed.

U.S. AVOIDING QUESTIONS ON CUBA BOMBING DETAILS

WASHINGTON, April 16—Government officials were avoiding probing questions to

President John F. Kennedy today as he sought to explain the details of the aerial bombings of Cuba. The administration was trying to get all the information it could on the attacks. The United States was attempting to cover its tracks, but it was heading into trouble anyway, as this Times story showed.

A high-level government official, seen here with the President's press secretary, Pierre Salinger, and other officials, is seen today in a meeting in the White House. The officials are seen here in a meeting in the White House. The officials are seen here in a meeting in the White House.

President John F. Kennedy today as he sought to explain the details of the aerial bombings of Cuba. The administration was trying to get all the information it could on the attacks. The United States was attempting to cover its tracks, but it was heading into trouble anyway, as this Times story showed.