

Letters to the Editor

Sir, I do not understand why Lord Devlin's article on the Warren Report does not even mention Mr. Mark Lane, who has spent a great deal of time interviewing the many witnesses whose evidence was not heard by the Warren Commission. It seems difficult for an informed man who is interested in the subject not to know about him. What we may be sure of is this: until Mr. Mark Lane's arguments have been answered, not merely wriggled ~~xxx~~ ~~xx~~ away from, the whole affair will continue to smell very fishy.

WILLIAM EMPSON

Sheffield University