Brazil Tries Cops For 14 Slayings

Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, April 12 (Reuters)-The trial has begun here of the first of seven police officers indicted for the murder of 14 beggars.

If given the maximum on all | When the police dumped six in February 1963, that they mur- police. dered the 14 beggars by drowning them.

ing the officers decided they hitting the water. must take what they called "A final decision," a prosecuting atorney aleged.

One Of Them Escapes

He claimed the beggars were drowned in the Guandu and Guarda Rivers on the borders of Guanabara and Rio de Janeiro States between October, 1962, and January, 1963.

A woman among those rounded up was raped and abandoned, he said.

charges, the first officer, Pedro of the beggars into the Guarda Saturnino Dos Santos, could get River Jan. 17, 1963, five were a sentence of 500 years in pri-drowned but the sixth, Olindina Alves Japaissu, swam ashore The seven officers confessed and told his tale—to the military

The attorney said the seven officers made confessions with The police were taking part in detailed descriptions of the an official campaign to clear R o beggars' pleas for mercy, imitatof out-of-town begars. But when ing the sound of breaking bones the same tramps kept reappear- and the noise of their bodies