

4-7-68
NYT

Associated Press
IN NORTHWEST AREA of Washington, smoke rises from burning buildings on Seventh Street, obscuring White House at top left. To left are Washington Monument and, near the edge of the Tidal Basin, the domed Jefferson Memorial. This view is toward Virginia.

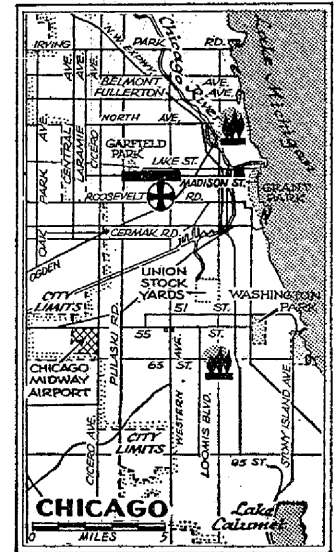

LOOTERS helping themselves to food on Friday in a supermarket at 14th Street and Park Road, northwest Washington

Associated Press

WEST OF THE LOOP: The ruins of burned business building stand empty on West Madison Street near Homan Avenue in Chicago, after Friday night's rioting and pillaging. The scene is about three miles from city's Loop business area.

The New York Times April 7, 1968

RIOT SCENE: West Madison Street (shown above in black) is the center of Chicago's violence. Fire symbols above and at right mark other areas of arson and store looting.