CHICAGO NEGROES SUE FOR HEARINGS

Prisoners Charge Delays in Handling of Riot Cases

By DONALD JANSON

Special to The New York Times

CHICAGO, April 12-Negroes jailed for a week after the rioting here asked the Illinois Supreme Court today to order the lower courts to hear their cases.

The 18 petitioners charged Judge John S. Boyle, chief justice of the Cook County Circuit Court, and other county officials with "suspending due process of law."

The 18 and some 3,200 other persons were arrested last weekend on charges of curfew violations, disorderly conduct, looting and arson. Hundreds of them remained in seriously overcrowded city and county jails today.

The suit is a class action charging county officials with "deliberate failure to provide sufficient courts, clerks and jail personnel during the past seven days, thereby suspending due process of law in Cook County."

When the Legal Aid Bureau of United Charities, the American Civil Liberties Union and the Cook County Bar Association made such allegations yesterday, Judge Boyle denied the charges.
