Dear Phil,

This is to follow up on our conversations concerning the collection of assassination-related material I am aware of, presently being stored in Los Angeles. As I mentioned on the phone, my general impression, confirmed by examination of random boxes of material last week, is that it is a very important and wide-ranging collection, centering on the RFK and JFK assassinations and related or similar issues. On the RFK case it is, without doubt, a unique documentary resource and of great value for further work.

I am enclosing a brief listing of some of the varied subject areas of material encountered in a review of random boxes from the files. In addition, I am enclosing copies of some pages from a typewritten index book which outlines the contents of one part of the collection. These items should give some glimpse of the range and kind of material involved.

It seems to me that the two major priorities in connection with institutional acquisition of this material concern: 1.) organization, cataloguing, storage and access; and 2.) effective use by students, scholars and others in connection with both the historical and the ongoing public interest concerns in these areas. With respect to the portion of these files bearing exclusively on the RFK assassination and specific Los Angeles issues, I've already touched on the special values that would be served by provision for access or use by a California or Los Angeles institution. Possible arrangements in this connection might relate to: 1.) reversion of part of the RFK material to a California institution under certain conditions; 2.) the disposition of duplicate copies (extensive in some areas); 3.) photocopying provisions; and 4.) institutional loans. Apart from scholarly and course-work importance, the collection as a whole also has relevance to journalistic, legal and other areas.

Thanks for your thoughts and reactions on these questions. I hope that this information is helpful.

Sincerely,

CASTELLANO FILES
