Dear Sylvia-

I just got back last night (oh boy! Am I tired! I got home tonight). Thanks for your letter + the package. I'll get the package off to you tomorrow or the next day. Your ground rules are perfectly reasonable, + I accept them.

It was such a delight to stay with the Ferrells + the Newcombs. Aren't they wonderful? I got a lot of goodies (incl. a few hundred pp. of Burton + Jaffe memos, etc.). The Newcombs already know about our literary pretensions, + I'm going to tell Mary as soon as I have enough put together to use as a justification for doubtless enormous demands on her time.

I met Gene Bradley. If he's an assassin, you + me are Siamese twin assistant D's once kept on a leash by Emperor Franz Josef.

Also sawifton again. Cough, cough.

Hurriedly,

Moze

P.S. I finally passed the bar exam. Now I can't run away + join the circus + be a juggler. Oh, well. Wotthehell, wotthehell.
