Dear Howard,

Just a brief note to thank you for your letters of the 3rd and 4th. I appreciate your comments on the Givens/Belin material and will let you know as soon as there are any new developments that would affect your footnote and citation.

A word of further clarification about the indexing of your ms. The question would arise only at such time as you had a publisher and the ms. was set in type, in page proofs. Indexing is considered an integral part of the ms. and the author is responsible for providing it, either by paying an indexer out of his advance against royalties or by doing his own index. You could easily construct your own index, using as a general guide or model the index of any of the serious books on the WR, when the time comes.

I look forward to meeting you one day soon, and to reading your ms. Meanwhile, let us keep in touch.

Kind regards,
