Dear Howard,

I had intended to mail you the enclosed notice before leaving for the summer but now I have received your letter of the 8th with the indication that you will be in New York next week.

Of course, I do want to meet you, and I hope that you will be able to come by one evening for a visit. It can be spur of the moment or we can make a firm arrangement once you arrive. My phone numbers are, at home, Chelsea 2-4293, and at my office, Plaza 4-1234 ext 2024.

As Harold told you, I am planning to do no work at all during the summer and am not even taking my typewriter with me, but I did intend to read your manuscript if it was ready. I would not consider the reading as work, but there might be a problem if I had extensive detailed comments or questions or needed to check back to source material in the 26 volumes or elsewhere, which will not be at my disposal until I return in September. I could probably give you a preliminary reaction by hand or by phone, and leave any detailed commentary or review of original source material until the autumn. But we will cross that bridge in due time.

If the ms. is not ready to bring with you next week, you can mail it to me at my summer address.

I'll look forward to hearing from you next week. Although my address is West 12 Street, the entrance to the building is actually on Eighth Avenue, and my apartment number is 15 D.

Sincerely yours,

Sylvia Meagher
