Mr. WILLIAM F. GORMAN, JR., also known as BILLY F. GORMAN, JR., 1306 North Beckley, advised that he works a shift with the U. S. Post Office in Dallas, whereby he gets off work at midnight and that before retiring, he usually stops at the Dobbs House, 1221 North Beckley, for a little to eat inasmuch as it is convenient to where he lives in the next block. He said that he had seen JACK RUBY in the Dobbs House on about three occasions. He said that on the first occasion RUBY introduced himself to him as BILLY GRAHAM, the evangelist. GORMAN stated he told RUBY he was delighted to meet him and that he himself was Bishop SHEEN. He said that on a second occasion when he observed RUBY in the Dobbs House there was no occasion for conversation between him and RUBY. He said that on a third occasion when he saw RUBY at the Dobbs House, RUBY did not speak to him, and he thought he might have offended RUBY on the first occasion by the response he had made to RUBY. He said that someone at the restaurant, either an employee or customer probably, had told him that this individual was named JACK and also gave his last name, but the last name did not stay with him. He said that whoever told him this had advised him that this person had a "strip-tease" place in Dallas.

GORMAN advised he never really knew RUBY's full name of JACK RUBY until after RUBY became involved in the investigation of the assassination of President KENNEDY and was given considerable publicity as a result of his having been charged with the shooting of LEE HARVEY OSWALD. GORMAN said that on the first two occasions that he saw RUBY in the Dobbs House, RUBY had in his company a quite attractive girl, a different girl each time. He said that he never saw OSWALD prior to the assassination of President KENNEDY and had no information which would reflect there was any association between OSWALD and RUBY.
