Dear Tom:

I am a very, very busy man. I offer you two hours. Take them or leave them.

Frankly, after many years of exchanges, I can't see what we are going to say to one another which will convince either of us to change our views.

If you must talk to me, I am offering you two hours alone and no more.

Sincerely,
