My dear General Walker,

In reply to your letter of July 13, 1966, I wish to refer you to page 139 of the Subject Index and to invite your attention to the listing for your name, which is followed by the term "right-winger" in parentheses. The key on pages 147-148 combines two separate classifications and is not intended as a double characterization. It is clear from the listing on page 139 that I did not apply the characterization "neo-nazi" to you.

As for the term "right-winger," you will note in the Warren Report on pages 292-299 a sub-section titled "Right-wing groups hostile to President Kennedy" in which your name is mentioned a number of times. You will find also on page 416 of the aforesaid Warren Report the assertion that Oswald "had an extreme dislike of the right-wing, an attitude most clearly reflected by his attempt to shoot General Walker." Evidently, then, the Warren Commission in the first instance designated you as a right-winger.

I am not aware that the Warren Report utilizes the classification "Left-Wingers and Neo-Nazis." The Report does designate various groups or political parties, by name, with which the accused assassin was in contact. That information is correspondingly classified in the Subject Index on pages 17, 25, 29, 45, 58 and 59.

Finally, allow me to point out that, as stated in the preface to the Subject Index, the work is an attempt to classify the material in the Warren Report and the Hearings and Exhibits. It includes negative and collateral references as well as direct references and does not necessarily take a position with regard to the correctness or incorrectness of statements, exhibits, characterizations, or allegations in the Warren Report or the accompanying volumes of Hearings and Exhibits.

Yours sincerely,
