Dear Sylvia:

About the stamp--its an old habit of mine to put several envelopes in my purse each day because somewhere along the line there will be a few minutes to write letters and notes to my friends, family, and co-workers. The stamp just got left by mistake.

About paying me for anything: Actually, money is no problem with me whatsoever. Being concerned about things is. It has been said that there are only two kinds of people in the world--those who care and those who don't. I happen to care very much. It has also been said that the trouble with the world is that 5% of the people think, 5% of the people think they think, and 90% of the people will do anything to keep from thinking. I hope I at least fall in the second 5%.

About replying to what I send you: Don't do it. I know your time can be applied to greater advantage in almost any other area of this tragic situation. So please, unless you have something specific you want done, just do not write to me. I'll continue to send whatever appears here, what I can develop on my own, and any of my half-baked ideas--but will not be bothered at all by not hearing from you. I MEAN IT. You are fighting the fight for all of us and I know it is far from easy.

About the clippings from November 22, 1963 onward: Debbie had made this up into a scrap book and it consists primarily of pictures. She turned this in for a school project and got an "A" on it--however, it is not even a good "C" in my book. Nothing is in order, she did not identify the paper each one came from and it is not even neatly prepared. Feel it would be useless to you but will send it along if you say so. Didn't want to just drop it without any final word of explanation.

About the Oak Cliff Tribune clip enclosed: Something seems to be left out of paragraph two but I just wanted you to see that feeling is strong with some people here about the situation.

About coming down: Please do.*

Sincerely,

Margaret

* May take a job soon
So check to see if weekend would be best time wise. Again, my services (and discusses) are absolutely FREE.
