Dear Mrs Meagher,

You keep dumbfounding me. What is dumbfounding me today is receiving from you 15 pages of "missing" CD material - dating back to Aug 66 yet! What an effort it must have been. In order to have compiled a list of what was not in the 26, you must certainly first have had to compile a CD list of what was in the 26 in terms of CDs. I am wondering if, for some three years or more, you might have sat up nights instead of going to bed & sleeping.

As it is Mrs Hartmann who has been doing the recent CD vs CE work (and not I), I am sending a copy of your CD list to her. The page 1 copy of your list identifies it as your property. I enclose a duplicate page 1, similar to the one I provided for Mrs H. Helen is now up to or past CD 1306, but from her tone I gather that she is also at least some weeks removed from completion. A thing that has been worrying her has been the ~~####~~ enormous job (which it no doubt would be!) of going thru the whole thing again, following completion of the final CD, in order to make all the necessary corrections & additions & deletions. As your own CD lists are in a sense of "opposite polarity" (what can be found vs what can't be found) than Helen's lists, she would have an ideal thing from which to check her own work. Where your's & her's don't dove tail, a flag goes up.

For the reason that your CD thing could be useful only if poured over at length, for some long time, I am returning the original of it to you immediately. Otherwise it might get thoroughly shopworn or something in the meantime - and also in the meantime you might be wanting it back to lend to somebody else. Very many thanks. I can guarantee you that Helen will be swimming in her head for 48 hours beginning with the hour in which she receives this thing.

I sent her a copy of your Index, and today I get a note from her saying "How can anyone get along without it?" - which is a question I am now asking myself. (No reply from the library yet, but perhaps soon).

Incidentally, if I haven't mentioned it before, I'm gradually "taking leave" of the ~~###~~ JFK thing & all related things. This is one of the reasons for my saying that I wouldn't be bugging you with further letters. Another reason is that I have this notion that it ought to be declared a Sin for unbusy people to bother busy people when the busy people could better be spending the time doing what they are doing. This feeling is in part responsible # for my starting letters & not finishing them. (As per the attached unfinished one of a few days ago, Ha!)

If you do decide to do that one on Assassinations, hope you will write it in the same style of subtle now&then humor & satire as ACCESSORIES. If you want to Spread the Word, you certainly do have a marvelous gift for spreading it in just the right way.

About the radio thing mentioned in a previous letter, it seems possible that you might not be contacted by the station for a guest appearance. I have just had a whiff# of 2nd or 4th or 8th hand that # it might not come about. (Your name was not mentioned, however, nor were any names). But so it goes. In the meantime I'll just stop thinking about it unless I see that some Other anti-assassinator is given a slot in the show. *

Many Thanks,

S. Sorensen
