Note the strip stamp on the envelope, the 6¢ FDR strip stamp which was provided from I do not feel so. So that nobody could take off a strip of several without knowing whether I do should please FDR reads up or reads down, or I should rather respect the printing on the stamp, or I should take this ~~strip~~ strip into individual stamps in order to put the straight one, or in all. Seems almost like somebody might have set down & asked the Chairman to send what in hell good he is if he can't even check the stamp design being Printed by this Post office department. To Print a strip stamp with, say, an airplane going straight up or straight down might be OK. You could laugh, anyway, at a funny mistake having happened. But as of today I guess it would be getting increasingly less funny to more & more people when something like this happens to political figures. (Like FDR, say).

In addition, I am also thinking of a thing you have written - in which you pointed out the additional shame of something being that things have come to such a state that even truth might not be believed. Me, I will always wonder about that original FDR strip stamp issue.
