Dear Dick,

Don't be startled—Sawyer, whose mercy to the English language is no greater than Captain Fritz's, should have said that he had found out about a man from one of the upper floors of the Dal-Tex Building who had been taking movies. As you suspected, none other than Abraham Zapruder. I arrived at this conclusion, after also thinking at first that I had made a startling discovery, on the basis of the totality of the testimony and exhibits, from which it seemed clear that it was only Zapruder to whom Sawyer referred, not some smothered camera-bug sequestered by The Establishment after capturing all the assassins on film.

When do I get my fifty dollars? I hear that "Bradley" is not Bradley, after all, but an agent of the ONI!

Kind regards,

Sincerely yours,
