II. Other Remarks

Galley page 6

Please delete reference to World Health Organization, as previously requested. Believe it or not, this could be grounds for dismissal from my job.

Galley page 21, para. 4, lines 8-10

You state that "one doctor believed it was too small to be even the entry hole of a bullet (6H56)." This assertion is seriously inconsistent with the actual testimony of Dr. Jones on the page cited.

He first indicates that the doctors had speculated that a bullet had entered the anterior neck and had struck a vertebral body, changing course and exiting from the posterior skull. He then suggests that doubts about this theory arose, not because of the size of the anterior neck wound but because it seemed unlikely that a high velocity bullet would change its course in this manner.

A bit later, Dr. Jones says that if it was a high velocity missile, he would think that "the entrance wound would probably be larger than the one that was present." That is somewhat different than the unqualified statement that he believed the wound to be too small to be even the entry hole.

Galley page 31, para. 2

You say, "This was a fairly large wound..." and at the end of that sentence you cite 4H 104. But on page 104, Dr. Shaw says explicitly that it was "a small wound."

Galley page 52, line 27

You should say, "At least four other witnesses..." and in Note 20 on galley page 54, Rowland should not be included, as he did not see a rifle "being fired from the Depository."

Galley page 68, Note 25

You may wish to refer to the primary instead of the secondary source of the statement that the ammunition is not reliable, by deleting "Lane...p. 122" and inserting "Meagher...p. 113." The note to Lane's text refers to a letter which I received from Western Cartridge Company. This letter is now cited also in my book.
