Dear Sylvia, (over)

Damn it, I know I'd forgotten something as we were leaving Haverhill, but I could never figure out what it was. The Lifter keys are (if my recollection serves) in the right top drawer of my desk. They're quite secure, but it must be a terrific inconvenience for you to be missing them over the summer.

Damn I'm sorry!!

As for the John Deere & Jones CDs: I think I sent them to you in the last month or so as part of the Scrubbers with Lane in TLS. So I think your earlier recollection was most likely correct -- you didn't have access to them when you checked the bus.

We'll be leaving here shortly for the Teter & Puntum's land points west. This is such big and wild country -- so basically still -- what you and I and the rest of our friends took to be foreground concerns recedes to the horizon of life here in the Midwest -- something for chit-chat but not for action. But, and
