Monday night

Dear Sylvia,

My apologies for not transferring the Whitney Toy materials to you when you checked here. They're gone.

That was such fun getting a chance to visit for the afternoon!! Nancy was thrilled to see all my descriptions of Sylvia, "brother-in-arms" in many bottles and loyal friend through thick and thin, fully realized in the person. When all the petty nothings and all the details of the evidence, have been forgotten I'll remember the good things -- chief among them your unwavering integrity, openness, and plain decency. You're a good friend Sylvia, and a hell of a partner to have in a fight! I'll miss you next year, and will have to develop some sort of epistolary (?) skills to keep in touch and find out what crazy things are going on.

Best love,

— Tim
