Terms of Sales:

Title to remain in vendor until entire purchase price including any notes given therefore is paid. In case of thirty days default in any payment, the entire price of books delivered will be due and payable and Callaghan & Company shall have the right to retake with or without process of law all of said property into their possession.

It is further agreed that the title to all books and supplementary materials, which will be shipped as published unless notified to the contrary, for all sets of books set forth herein shall remain in Callaghan & Company until all moneys due including any applicable sales or use tax, are paid.

It is expressly understood by both parties that representations made by a salesman that are not included herein do not constitute a part of this contract.
