Dear Miss Meagher:

It was a pleasure meeting you Tuesday evening, and I am glad that we finally had an opportunity to talk at some length, even though the overwhelming background music occasionally made me feel that World War III was about to start!

I enjoyed reading your article and your letter to the U.S. News and World Report, and I thank you for having given me copies of both. I shall look forward to your article in Esquire Magazine in a few months.

If you listened to the Long John show, you know that we discussed the Warren Commission Report at some length. In fact, the subject kept coming up sporadically during the four-hour program.

I did remember to mention your name to Doctor Helpern and his secretary (his wife!); thus, I hope that if you ever have occasion to call him, he will remember your name.

Please let me know of any new developments in the case. I must state that the more one becomes involved, the more fascinating and perplexing it becomes.

With kind regards,

Sincerely,

Cyril H. Wecht, M.D., LL.B.
