Dear Sylvia:

Thank you for sending me a copy of your recent letter to Philip Scheffler at CBS News. I admire your courage and fortitude in pursuing the matter as much as you did, and I certainly agree with everything that you said in your letter.

I just spoke with a girl from CBS who works with Bob Richter. She told me that it is against their policy to send transcriptions of the complete interviews. I subsequently spoke to another office and repeated my request. They will let me know shortly, although I know very well what the answer will be.

I am really sorry about this, for I think that my interview with Dan Rather could have been a substantial basis upon which to write a fairly thorough critique of the medical aspects of the investigation. Unfortunately, it looks like nothing can be done to obtain this material.

I was pleased to learn that you had succeeded in obtaining the detailed results of the CBS marksmanship tests, and I would be interested in learning the results whenever you have an opportunity to drop another note.

I look forward to the publication of your book. I hope that it receives an overwhelming reception.

I submitted some comments to Tink Thompson for possible inclusion as an appendix to his book. I am waiting to hear from him.

Looking forward to hearing from you and possibly seeing you in the late Summer or early Fall.

With kindest regards.

Sincerely,

Just dropped a note to Mudgey @ CBS, again requesting a transcription of my interview. Their viciousness is amazing!
