Dear Sylvia:

Thank you for your kind letter of 22 February 1969. I appreciate being corrected on the several mistakes that I made in my comments on the Long John show. It is wise in this business not to "err".

You certainly have been right all along in your criticism of Garrison; in fact, your thoughts were a significant factor in my ultimate decision not to go to New Orleans to testify as a rebuttal witness. I am very unhappy with the way in which Garrison works, and I feel that I was used by him in the Washington legal action. However, we succeeded in accomplishing something in that trial that may inure to our benefit in the future.

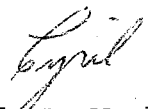

I am hopeful that we shall gain access to the Archive material by filing under the Freedom of Information Act. What do you think?

I was on a radio program with Tink Tuesday night, and we chatted for some time by phone after the program ended (he was in Philadelphia and I was in Pittsburgh). I was delighted to learn that he had won the law suit that LIFE had brought against him, but unfortunately, it cost him quite a lot of money. What a thoroughly disgusting commentary on our legal system.

Please let me hear from you regarding any significant new developments. I hope that we shall be able to get together in New York some time soon.

With kindest regards.

Sincerely,

Cyril H. Wecht, M.D., LL.B.
