Dear Sylvia,

Because he is sick and because I have no time for his strange plots, when I glanced at the first page I wrote Dave as one should a man who seems to be as ill as he. Aside from my affection for Maggie, I also have no doubt about her word, particularly as against his. I had been warned against Dave earlier and since have assumed he collaborates with Liebeler, willingly or without so intending.

It is what Lane said and how he behaved. The bar gave him a letter ordering him to make no comment before it. He said this to Richard Townley of WDSU-TV and me the night of the day he spoke at the bar. We bumped into each other in the quarter, rather late. Lane was wandering, alone, possibly going somewhere. One of my misgivings is what you quote others as interpreting as "virtual proof". I fear the influence of some of Mark's more exotic concepts, such as Holland, who would be like a Commission witness in court, not that I doubt he saw that part of what he says.

I believe Garrison should without <sup>held</sup> all his information that he intends to take to court or that can prejudice the rights of any who may be tried. He can survive the criticism. But he is sensitive, as who isn't? What you have seen is not all. Expect something from Schiller. He has, I understand from someone in New York, 14 hours on tape.

I did what I could to prepare the way for Ray, with him and in New Orleans. I'm anxious to hear from him. If you hear from him before I do, I have spoken also to Harve Morgan, KCBS, San Francisco, about him. He should send a Bastard. Understand Joe Dolan teed off on me after I did a half hour with him earlier this week. Hard to believe.

Nothing else new. I'll be up Wednesday but do not know schedule. Speaking Friday night at South Shore Forum, Levittown, doing Long John show 5/17, tape, and meetings with others on book will keep me pretty busy.
