

Say nothing of it at the moment, I've told only Bill and in confidence, but I suddenly remembered that when I got home and found there was a call for me from Dallas from someone I'd never heard of I taped the conversation and they got busy and forgot to erase it when I found no immediate need for it. I've checked it this am. (1-9) and find that Schiller did entirely misrepresent, saying he was interested in the fact we had developed, that it was for their college series, etc. I think it will be good to hold this back. He told me of spending the day with Penn, how cooperative Penn was, etc. But I think it is enough to show that they made false pretenses to get our cooperation. I also recall that they ran out of tape several times while I was talking and

I may call McKinney Williams, to see if they are interested in doing a show as I did in DC, but I think only if they have already aired the record. Any thoughts? News from Dell is only indirect but it apparently is good, that they've twice reprinted, that they think that if they get the Manchester book they'll still make more money on WHITEWASH, and that they now want WHITEWASH II. My reply was first only in hardback and what kind of money is up front.

I have been thinking about the possibility of a book on the subject of the... I have been thinking about the possibility of a book on the subject of the... I have been thinking about the possibility of a book on the subject of the...

I have been thinking about the possibility of a book on the subject of the... I have been thinking about the possibility of a book on the subject of the... I have been thinking about the possibility of a book on the subject of the...

I have been thinking about the possibility of a book on the subject of the... I have been thinking about the possibility of a book on the subject of the... I have been thinking about the possibility of a book on the subject of the...

I have been thinking about the possibility of a book on the subject of the... I have been thinking about the possibility of a book on the subject of the... I have been thinking about the possibility of a book on the subject of the...