Dear Harold and Lil:

Liked your letter about your career in chickens. You are pretty sharp to remember that I asked you about it several months ago. Now they have free range chickens, let them run around the yard for a while and charge three times as much. You were ahead of your time!

Ditto Geese for Peace. I still want to hear about you being Barbecue King. I knew Lil is known for her recipes.

I looked up the False Oswald sightings at the rifle range in the 26vol. Never realized that there were so many of them on different occasions. Fits the pattern of gross, heavy handed behavior seen in the other False Oswald stories. Whoever set him up sure left fingerprints, at least a pattern of unforgettable behavior.

Five inches of snow, but it is melting fast. Next week is the big dog show, Betsy's father is coming down. That is where I met Mrs. Firestone, who owned the top dog, Mystique. German Shepherd, which is also what we have. She saw me reading Photo Whitewash, we struck up a conversation, and I sent her a copy of Reasonable Doubt. She wrote me a note saying thanks, it was very informative. Nice lady.

I gave a copy of WWII to a buddy who printed up your stationary. Already indoctrinated by Reasonable Doubt.

It appears that the Republicans, Washington Times, Rush Limbaugh, have decided on a strategy of Death by a Thousand Cuts, to try to destroy Bill Clinton. Since it is pretty obvious that Dan Quayle or Bob Dole will have a very difficult time in beating Clinton, strategy is to diminish him. Whitewater is their ticket, I always thought it would be the babes. Slick Times is a slander mag that runs all sorts of anti-Clinton articles, some pretty funny. See attached Cat Scan.

It looks to me that the same type of thing that JFK endured, about his "alliance with the Pope ; "secret first marriage", etc.

They even wrote one article about Clinton's illegitimate black son by a hooker in Arkansas. Give me a break! While I certainly do not think the Democrats have a monopoly on wisdom, I really despise the national Republicans. Just like the Nation of Islam, the Republicans have a decent story to tell and sell, but insist on appealing to the lowest common denominator. Recent article about the Nation of Islam noted that Muhammad Ali, who still visits his mother here in Louisville, is no longer a member, but considers himself Moslem. He was close with Malcolm X. Ali recently sued Elijah Muhammad's son for some type of fraud using Ali's name.

Recent events in the Mideast are very sad. It seems the Israelis have a lot of problems with radicals from the US. I guess if Abraham and Jesus, not to mention Caesar, couldn't pacify the region, Arafat and Shamir will have a hard time. America is very lucky to avoid these thousand of year old hatreds, hard for us to understand Bosnia-Serbia, Mideast.

I include the best seller list from USA Today. I am firmly convinced you could get on this list if your publisher would give your book a push. Do they even have an advertising dept.?

Again, thank you for your time and say HI to Lil. Spring is just around the corner!
