Dear Harold:

At this point in my life, if I could just find half the stuff I've lost, I'd be happy! Among them my Bar Assoc. magazine so I could sign up for the annual meeting next week.

I enclose the Lincoln article, which I hope you will pass on to Jerry McKnight. Dave Wrone has encouraged me to write an article about Sen. Cooper, and this is one of the places I might be able to get it published.

I was going to advise you to lighten up on Richard Gallen, but after reading your last letter, I agree with you. Case Open could have used some editing. I saw it in our local large bookstore, so I put it next to Case Closed. By the way when we were in Chicago, I had one of the bookstores look up Selections, which was not in stock in that store, and they said it was in the computer as The Complete Whitewash. Which I understand was one of the proposed titles.

I have been meaning to tell you, the robin's egg blue sport shirt you wear in JFK: The Investigations, or whatever the last documentary was called, makes you look 10 years younger!

I do have a pile of Jackie Kennedy articles and books to send you, when I have the time to cut out and read them. I enclose one page of the special magazine People did wholly on Jackie. Note the number of shots they claim JFK was hit with. Which might be correct, but in this case by accident.

In my next letter, I am going to send you an article by Dershowitz on Jonathon Pollard, Penthouse, and one on Ollie North, Playboy. Interesting articles and lets you know what style these mags like. It is too bad you have not had more success in publishing mag articles.

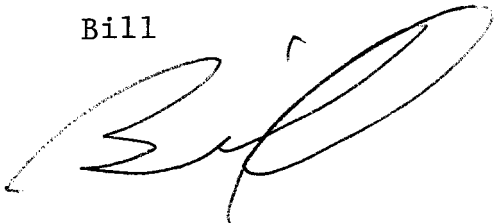

I am frustrated by the failure of the local Courier Journal to publish my review of Selections, though promised. I'll call them this afternoon. Gives me an idea of the frustrations you have gone through over the years.

I enclose a copy of the art which our friend hopes to exhibit in the Renwick of the Smithsonian perhaps as soon as this fall. Betsy has written a magazine article on this woman and her work. Betsy is actually the only professionally published member of our household.

Say Hi to Lil and I'll write soon.

Sincerely,

Bill
