

Dear Bill,

3/21/95

If typing, that is practise, could improve my typing it would not be like it is!

I've already written you about breakfast on the 7th. It can be early, so I can still get to the Lab building in time to do some walking there, or I can meet you after my p.r. for breakfast at the Red Horse, about 8:45. I've built up on the UBE again until I did 26 minutes Monday but yesterday I stopped at what they had told me is enough, 20 mins.

There are a number of places along Rt 40 where one can get an early breakfast. The RH does not open for that until 7. Which is when on days I do not go to the Lab I can get in the mall to walk.

My correspondence with Rookstool is in my office, easy to get. I have a letter from a former, retired FBI agent that may interest you.

I think that when Posner was here little interested him less than any worthwhile assassination files. I think he copied the FBI records on various critics, including me, from my subject file.

Comparing the U of K with the Mount near here is like comparing Goliath with a midget. The Mount is a very small Jesuit school not far from here. That they got as far as they did was a big thing hereabouts. When I knew about Drexel it also was small, specializing in engineering and the like.

I did realize the power of TV with the first show I ever did, on the largest independent station in New York. I'll tell you about that when you are here. It made an overnight success of Whitewash in that area, where the week after the show it was the best-selling work of nonfiction. Had to ship to NY wholesalers three times that week. Some of the larger stores sold out 300 copies in a day. And the phone calls I got as soon as the airing of the show filmed in advance was over!

As you will have seen, I'm unhappy about what the AR&B is not doing as well as what it is doing. I may try to carry that farther today if that is possible after a midmorning dental appointment. Depends on the mail. The idea kept me from staying asleep last night. Which to you this still is. May even begin it if I can get the books packaged before I leave for the early-morning walking.

Best,
