

a brief period of time he was sent material through the mail and contacted locally, and he started to attend the meetings, which he stated were held in each others homes. Oswald stated they, the members, get together and talk about how it would be to visit Cuba, life in Cuba, etc..

"Oswald denied the organization was communist, or a communist front, when asked by Captain James Arnold, Commanding Officer of the First Police District, who came in during the interview, but Oswald had in his possession and was carrying a piece of cardboard with "VIVA VIVA Fidel" painted on it and the paraphernalia he was handing out was pasted on this cardboard also. Oswald stated he has never been to Cuba, and it appeared as though he is being used by these people and is very uninformd and knows very little about this organization that he belongs to and its ultimate purpose or goal. Oswald stated that the people that attend these informal meetings are working class people, such as clerical, trades, etc..

"The three Cubans were interviewed and furnished the following information:

"#1. Celso Macario Hernandez, WM, age 47, D.O.B. 1/8/16, Social Security Number 265-76-8756.

"Hernandez stated he came to the United States via Miami, Florida, on October 9, 1962, with his family and he was a traveling book salesman in Cuba. He came to New Orleans on January 8, 1963 and resides at 519 Adele Street, New Orleans with his family. He has not had

This account of the meetings of the non-existent New Orleans Fair Play for Cuba Committee is, of course, fiction. The real reason that Oswald knew "very little about this organization" seems never to have occurred to the police. It was not that the FPCC was "using" him, obviously, but that in New Orleans it did not exist.

any employment except for a few days of manual labor in Miami, Florida, and is presently on relief or welfare.

"The names of the family of Colso M. Hernandez are as follows:

Daughter: Terosita, WF, age 6

"Hernandez stated he saw Oswald at approximately 1:30 P.M., August 9, 1963, passing out communist literature and he went and got his friends at 107 Decatur Street and at first they were unable to locate this subject Oswald when they got on the Canal Street streetcar, and they rode to Jefferson Davis Avenue and not being able to locate Oswald they returned to 107 Decatur Street, the Casa Roca retail clothing store. They remained there until someone came in and told them where Oswald was and they then proceeded to that location, where the three of them were carrying the sign described in formation relative to Carlos Bringuier in this memo. They then began to argue with Oswald and a crowd gathered and they were all (four) arrested by the police.

"#2. Carlos Jose Bringuier, age 29, D.O.B. 6/22/34, 5'8", 150 lbs., residing 501 Adele Street, residing this address about three months, born in Havana, Cuba.

"Bringuier stated he is manager of the Casa Roca retail clothing store, located 107 Decatur Street, New Orleans. He began his

For some reason not clear to those whose minds work in more normal ways, Bringuier preferred describing himself as an employee of the store of which he was owner in partnership with his brother-in-law. Although describing himself as a lawyer and former clerk of the criminal court in Havana under Castro and styling himself "doctor", Bringuier filed a frivolous "defamation" suit against me, waiting until after I left New Orleans to do so, although I had been alerted to his intentions before I went there. Testimony before an official body is privileged, immune to private suit. Among the testimony Bringuier claimed to be defamatory is his own, similar to what he told the police at the time of his altercation with Oswald. The import of his complaint is that people may patronize a store in which he works, whereas they will not knowing he owns it.

Bringquier has his own definition of "Communist". It seems to coincide with that of the part of the radical right whose darling he is and amounts to anyone he does not like or who does not see through the special tinted glasses with which he regards the rest of the world. Here he calls the duly elected President of Argentina, overthrown by a military coup, a "Communist".
