The Secret Service covered the CIA's Georgetown Univ. gathering of 11/73 with Agent Douglas Laird. The Secret Service informed the ~~the~~ Washington Field Office (File 62-10555 (C)) A copy of the WFO's Memo to Director of 12/18/73 was also sent to the New York Filed Office for its file 100-179450 and one was filed in WFO's 100-57859. (100 files = "Internal Security") WFO explains interest as because William Turner was former FBI agent and George O'Toole was "former CIA agent."

I was a scheduled speaker, I did speak, and the Secret Service has provided nothing on this in response to my FOIA/PA request for all records on me. Nor has the FBI.

From CIA file 62-11269732

If my recollection is correct there is another of these CIA records that states the CIA also covered this meeting.

Whether or not I am correct in this from the WFO's memo the FBI had its own interest in coverage and therefore should have other records on the meeting and on me.

The conference itself is a captioned subject of the memo.

The CIA did cover the first session, according to the ~~P.C. Mogen letter~~ P.C. Mogen letter drafted for Kelley to Send the Director of CIA, attention James Angleton, dated 12/26/73 In it the FBI is untruthful. The record was originally held to be exempt from the General Declassification Schedule under Category 2 by A.J. Decker, Jr.

The CIA's communication to the FBI of 12/11/73 is CIR-316/03107-73. It enclosed a report not provided. An FBI note says its letter is classified Secret because the CIA used that classification.

The FBI states that "to date" it has not "been in receipt of pertinent information from our sources." Unless the Secret Service is not a source it had heard from Secret Service a week earlier. Another possible interpretation is that the FBI HQ meant informants of its FO by "sources." In this event the reports and records would be in the FOs, not HQ.

Here also is an illustration of the CIA and classification abuse. They engage in purely domestic intelligence on an issue that can have no foreign intelligence connection of any kind and they classify it "Secret".

This means that the FBI, Secret Service and CIA all had coverage on a purely domestic gathering of people who expressed views on a controversial subject and did and planned to do and could do nothing else except talk.
