Dear Mr. Hall,

Copy to Mr. Huff as appeal
FOIPA No. 254,713

When I received it my attention was taken immediately by your use of a printed form instead of a letter in your response to the cited request. Whatever your reason may have been, one became apparent when I examined the enclosed search slips. Your printed form does not state that you have provided all the pertinent search slips. And you haven't.

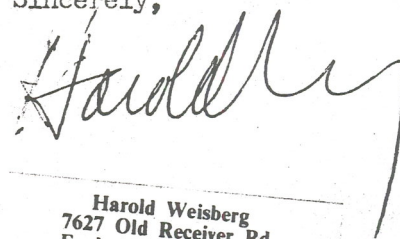

The earliest is dated 1966. You made earlier searches. One is a continuation, but what it continues is not provided. Moreover, the FBI has provided me with copies of and references to records that are not on these search slips. These are included in appeals that remain ignored after many, many years.

Don't you ever get tired of playing these cheap and unbecoming games, with wasting time and money, with demeaning yourselves and the FBI, and with contemptuous disregard of your responsibilities and of any considerations of personal and professional integrity?

By a copy I am appealing your withholdings, but I would like to think that for once you might make the slight effort required by honesty and common decency.

Can't you - just once?

Sincerely,

Harold Weisberg
