To Quin Shea from Harold Weisberg, enclosed appeals, all cases

6/30/79

There will be additional appeals when I get to go over copies of records already made to illustrate and facilitate appeals.

Those enclosed are separate by case and have further separate <sup>ion</sup> to add emphasis to my interest, rather than to reflect any diminished interest or importance.

With cases in court and given the age of my PA appeal I intend no reflection of less than maximum interest, whether the appeal be of personal interest to me or be to perfect the historical records in areas where there is no special relevance to my own work.

I hope that this enables you and your staff to be attracted first to those matters I regard as more important.

To facilitate this I will also try to remember to use a paper that does not present xeroxing problems for matters I believe deserve a high priority in your attention.

If this readily available paper is unsatisfactory please let me know.

Until the local typewriter repairman has a vision I cannot do anything about the varying densities of the impressions.
