at European Meeting By DREW MIDDLETON

Special to The New York Times

STRASBOURG, France, May charged today that President icans bought the German Volksde Gaulle's "European" solution to the problem of German reunification was "unrealistic" and would benefit and would be solution was answered to Mr. Sandys's satand would benefit only the So-isfaction. viet Union payments in gold, was "in our that there was no necessity books" for $6.4 billion of unpaid now for bold action within the

This double-barreled denun-This double-barreled denun-ciation of General de Gaulle's the relaxation in the Adminispolicies was delivered before the Consultative Assembly of the Council of Europe, representing 18 European governments from Iceland to Turkey.

Senotar Enthright an Ar-through closer ties with the Senator Fulbright, an Arthrough closer ties with the kansas Democrat, and Repre-East European states, Senator sentative Hays, an Ohio Dem-Fulbright predicted that this ocrat, seconded by Senator John would weaken the Communist Sherman Cooper, Republican of East German republic and pave Kentucky, defended American the way for "its ultimate mergpolicy in South Vietnam and in r" with West Germany. the Dominican Republic in a prolonged question-and-answer period` that followed the speeches.

Many of the European par-ticipants thought that this part of the meeting was less convincing than the set speeches. They felt that the United States lelegation had failed to answer wo questions that troubled the European allies.

The first of these was: Does he situation in South Vietnam

Hays Also Attacks France asked whether the American view of interdependence with Europe extended to United States dependence on the European manufacture of a major weapon to defend the Western

What Mr. Sandys got in re-- Senator J. W. Fulbright ply was a reminder that Amer-

In his attack on Gaullist polviet Union.

Representative Wayne L. icy Mr. Fulbright, chairman of Hays asserted that France, tee of the Senate, took a lowasking for short-term keyed approach. He emphasized Atlantic community.

He rejected the idea that the Ferman problem could be rearded as solely a European uestion. Noting the agreehents that commit France to four-power solution, includng the United States, Britain nd the Soviet Union, he delared that it was "most unrealstic to suppose that a satis-actory solution on Germany ould be reached without particpation of the United States." Any negotiations from which represent a civil war or a true the Americans and the British in gold instead of in dollars."

PULBRIGHT SCORES

DE GAULLE POLICY

represent a civil war or a true the Americans and the British in gold instead of in dollars."

But, he added, "this particular credit country is on our books as due the United States $6.4 disequilibrium of power, and "it billion for unpaid World War I The second question as it was is hard to imagine a solution presented by Duncan Sandys, under such circumstances other for payment."

Havs Also Attacks France Union."

Although there apparently is greement in the Administraion not to mention General de aulle or France directly in riticisms of his policy, Mr. Hays was quite as severe loward Gaullist policy as Mr.

'ulbright.

The Ohio Congressman began by emphasizing the extent of American aid to Europe after World War II. He said that the "mutuality of interests" had not been observed by all the partners of the Atlantic alliance.

One of these partners, he de-clared, insists that "we pay their present short-term credits