Dear David,

I've accumulated several boxes of this kind of paper, clear one side, and have started to use it as a minor contribution toward coping with the energy crisis. And snowed under as I now am, I begin to respond to your 5/9 while awaiting an overdue call to be on a radio program. If and when it comes through, I'll have to lay this aside for work I've interrupted to be free for that program.

I do appreciate the kind things you said about ^{me} and thank you for them.

Whether the bad books are bad and whether you use them to be able to inform people by being able to steer them in a more productive direction are unrelated. If those books I regard as bad had ~~Not appeared~~ there would be no need to steer people at all.

Thank you, I am interested in what you hope to get from Hurwitz

Thanks for giving our flyers ^{er} to others so they'll know how to get ^{The books} them.

My sleep problem is unchanged. I was at Johns Hopkins yesterday and two days before that and go back for overnight studies and testing next week. I can hardly keep my eyes open now and at 11:47 a.m. I've been up for 11 hours!

I do not know whether or not Livingston answers letter. I knew that Lane Silver did. We disagree but we get along and I've done all I can to help him. Took much time. But if you write him further, be aware, without indicating it, that he ^{is} inclined toward real rather than figurative paranoia. Don't provoke him. He'll feel persecuted.

It was not Stone alone who turned this into a liberal-conservative matter, which he did. But others did it first earlier. It is not and should not be that.

Please understand and excuse the haste and brevity.

Best,

Harold
