Dear Mr. <sup>G</sup>ee,

Thanks for your letter and the SASE. The information on our books is enclosed.

I fear there is little likelihood of the crime ever being solved. It was never investigated officialy, that was never intended, and there thus are no leads <sup>gt</sup> be followed.

While I agree that all withheld records should be disclosed those who clamor most will do least with them. I've gotten a third of a million pages and not one of the authors has come here to spend any real time going over them.

The volume alone frustrates access. It did in the past and it will in the future.

Who can afford the costs of going over 250,000 pages? This is what I have on JFK.

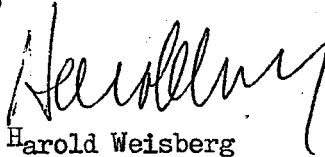

But if the records are disclosed they can t then be destroyed, so on that basis alone they should be out.

So we ought not build hopes that have little cahce of ever being more than hope.

And we should seek to keep pressure to bear on errant government.

And maybe as records become available and are read we may all learn more.

Thanks and best wishes,
