

IN OUR DEFENSE

Ellen Alderman Caroline Kennedy

"A generation ago, John F. Kennedy somehow managed to make people care about

Lucius Quintus Cincinnatus Lamar and other, less obscure figures in PROFILES IN COURAGE.

Now the late President's daughter is helping people to care about the Constitution." David Margolick, The New York Times

"GRIPPING..."

A wealth of stimulating material... a moving look at how our complex society tries to stay tuned to individual rights despite many pressures and conflicts."

Bill Bepko, Norfolk Virginian Pilot and Ledger-Star

"MUST READING..."

A fitting and timely tribute to the vitality of the Bill of Rights."

Barbara Jordan

"The authors' reader-friendly prose is clear and direct..."

The narrative moves with novelistic speed, spiced with odd, trenchant, and entertaining details." Mary Voboril, Miami Herald

"Their reporting took them to the ultimate source of our American freedoms—to those men and women resolute and courageous enough to act out in life what the Bill of Rights promises... I can't think of a better way to start the bicentennial of the Bill of Rights than, in a single weekend, to read the Constitution and IN OUR DEFENSE." Bill Moyers

April 9, 1993

To a Great Historian,
a Great Admirer,

Sim
F. Sinsberg

